NOTICE.

A KIND of stone, useful, capable of being used in foundaries and factories in the place of ENGLISH FIRE-BRICKS, has been discovered in the Jheend State, and will be, after being prepared and dressed, supplied to purchasers at the rate of Rs. 50 per hundred bricks, and no commission will be allowed. Any one wishing to purchase on the above stated terms is requested to apply to His Highness the Maharaja of Jheend, at Sangroor. After receipt of application, within one month's time from that date, 2,000 bricks can be supplied, and so on at the rate of 2,000 bricks a month, whatever their size and shape may be, according to the instructions sent. Bricks from one inch to three inches thick, and from one inch to six inches wide, and to one foot in length, can be supplied. Whatever instructions and orders the purchaser may give as to the sort of bricks required will be strictly carried out. The bricks will be brought free of charge to Rewari, a station on the Rajpootana State Railway, and from thence will be carried at the purchaser's risk and cost. Payment for these bricks should be made in advance, and failing this the security of one respectable firm or of a bank must be given. Some particulars as to a trial of the strength of these new bricks used for lining a furnace at Sangroor, are herewith given. Diameter of furnace was three feet, its depth was nine feet, and height eight feet, and the lining of bricks six inches thick, and one hundred and seventy-five maunds of iron at a time were melted in it; three hundred and thirty of these new bricks, one foot in length, three-and-a-half inches thick and 5 inches wide, and four seers puceа in weight, were used in the furnace, and also ten maunds and-a-half of English fire-clay. The furnace thus prepared was used six times straight off for melting iron of the full amount each time without any repairs or renewal of bricks being required whatever, and for four more times, in addition the only slight repairs required each of these four times being six of these bricks and twenty seers of fire-clay. In a word, the furnace thus prepared in ten hours melted seventeen hundred and fifty maunds of iron, and it is evident from this trial that these new bricks far surpass the English fire-bricks in every way, as intending purchasers may easily discover for themselves by comparing the time their own bricks last with that of the time given for these new bricks in the trial related above, and they should take into account that by the discovery of these new bricks the heavy cost of exportation from England will be entirely avoided.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

SATURDAY EVENING, OCT. 29.

THE usual London telegrams of yesterday did not come in to-day until after business hours, thereby materially increasing the usual Saturday's quietness; and very few actual transactions have taken place in any branch of business.

The London Money Market is decidedly easier, rates of discount outside the Bank being quoted ½ to ¼ per cent. lower. This does not, however, appear to have had any effect on Stocks, which are all unchanged.

Coffee is firm and partially 2s. per cwt. higher, but in other articles of Produce there is no movement reported.

Piece-goods in Manchester continue steady at previous prices. The Liverpool Cotton Market yesterday was firm, sales 15,000 bales, Americans being quoted 1-16d. higher, both on the spot and to arrive; but to-day's market comes "supplies freely offered," and although the sales are put at 12,000 bales—a fair quantity for a Saturday—yesterday's advance of 1-16d. in Americans has been lost. In New York ready Mid.-Uplands remain throughout at 11⅛ cents., but January shipment advanced on Thursday from 11·75 to 11·90, and yesterday receded to 11·83 cents. per lb. again.

We subjoin our usual weekly comparison of the statistical position of the staple with the corresponding date of the two previous years. It will be observed that the total visible supply is rapidly coming back to the neighbourhood of last year's figures, being now only 250,000 bales ahead. This, of course, is owing to the comparatively small receipts at the American ports, the deficiency from 1st September to date as compared with the same time last year being now 228,000 bales. If the same rate of falling off continues much longer, we shall have to begin to consider the possibility of how much the crop may be under instead of over six millions. We lean to the belief, however, that a considerable proportion of the deficiency is owing more to the crop being late than actually short. In fact, if this is not the case, it is difficult to account for the absence of any upward movement in Liverpool prices, in the face of the large business which has been doing for some time past, the sales during the past week being 91,000 bales, which, in an ordinary way, would almost certainly have led to a rise.

The visible supply of Cotton for all Europe on the 28th instant gives the following comparisons:—

	1881.	1880.	1879.
Total supply of all kinds ..	2,000,000	1,832,810	1,555,700

EXCHANGE.—With Bar Silver in London unaltered and next to nothing doing here, our market has only been steady at previous rates, which under the circumstances is about as much as could be expected. We quote:—

Bank Bills on demand	1s. 7 15-16d.	per rupee.
Do. telegraphic	1s. 7 29-32d.	,,
Credits, 3 months sight....	1s. 8d.	,,
Credits, 3 ,, ,, ...	1s. 8¼d.	,,
Documents, 3 ,, ,, ...	1s. 8 9-32d.	,,
Francs 3 ,, ,, ...	80	,,

On Calcutta rates are unchanged at 1-16 discount for demand and 1 per cent. discount for 60 days' sight.

GOVERNMENT PAPER is firm at fully yesterday's quotations. We call Fours Rs. 100 13-16; Fours-and-a-half Rs. 109¾.

The SHARE market continues quiet. Banks are unaltered. In Press companies we note a decline of Rs. 5 in Berars and Rs. 2½ in Mofussils. Colaba Land shares are Rs. 2½ lower at Rs. 812½. Spinning and Weaving Mill shares are all quiet, and in most cases Rs. 5 to Rs. 10 lower; in Dharamseys the drop being as much as Rs. 25. The Mills latterly have scarcely been doing quite so well. The tendency of Cotton is upward. Coals are getting dearer again, and the demand for local goods and yarns is so slack, that the mills find stocks accumulating on their hands, the general estimate now being that there are something like 40,000 packages in Bombay unsold.

COTTON is firmer to-day, with an advance of Re. 1 per candy. There are not, however, many buyers, as we are still a long way above home prices.

SEEDS and WHEAT are quiet and unchanged.

FREIGHTS show no quotable change, but, if anything, immediate shipment is a trifle easier at 45s. for Liverpool.

PIECE-GOODS are quiet at previous prices, with no great extent of business doing from first hands.

COALS are very firm, cost price at home being quite 8 annas to Re. 1 per ton over rates ruling here.

The Bombay Gazette

MONDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1881.

At the end of September the Bombay Government drew up a resolution in the Educational Department of which the eighth para. has now seen the light. That para. is a long one, there being embalmed in it, like flies in amber, a letter from the Government of India to the Government of Bombay, and a letter from the Secretary of State to the Government of India. From the contents of the first-quoted of these letters, we learn that the Government of India hold that the rule laid down by the Secretary of State in 1868, "that no officer in the public service should be allowed to receive fees except under the special previous sanction" of the Government of India, shall in future "be held to apply to the case of Government professors and school-masters giving tuition to private pupils." Thus by a stroke of the pen professors and school-masters are brought under the operation of a general rule which, since its promulgation in 1868, has not been held to apply to them at all. Henceforth fees earned by private tuition, given by professors and school-masters in their private hours, must not be taken "except with the special previous sanction of the Government of India." As of course this previous sanction will not be accorded except under very exceptional circumstances, which are not likely to exist very often, it may be taken that from this time forward no officer of the Education Department will be allowed to give private tuition. It is not alleged in the sole para. of the Government Resolution which has been published for the information of Educational officers, whatever may be said in the paras. which are still in the dark, that any practical inconvenience had been found to arise from the practice of giving private tuition to those who sought it, and were willing to pay for it. But we are able to point at once to the very serious hardship which the promulgation of this very needless and vexatious resolution must entail upon a large number of the officers of the Educational Department, and especially those holding subordinate and badly-paid positions. Men in receipt of from sixty to two hundred rupees a month have hitherto been able to supplement their meagre salaries by giving private lessons before or after official hours. In this way they have been able to keep out of debt, and support themselves and their families in decency and comfort. The possibility of earning something by private tuition has, it is well known, attracted to

EUROPEAN AND EURASIAN EDUCATION.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

SIMLA, OCT. 29.

An important resolution appears in to-day's Gazette with reference to European and Eurasian education. It reviews at great length the whole question, and states the conclusions arrived at by the Government and the measures it is prepared to sanction or support. The resolution begins by stating that the local Governments' reports, called for in 1879, have received the full consideration of the Governor-General in Council, together with a further report by Archdeacon Baly. Archdeacon Baly's inquiries show that in Bengal, including the Lower, the North-Western and Central Provinces, the Punjab, Assam, Berars, Ajmere, and Central India, upwards of 5,000 European and Eurasian children are growing up in absolute ignorance.

The Viceroy agrees with the conclusion of former Governments, that this state of things is lamentable, and if allowed to continue will, in the words of Lord Canning, ultimately become a glaring reproach to the Government. The Government consider that the adoption of a system of common education for Europeans and natives is impossible. The chief objections are that there would be no religious instruction, and the whole atmosphere would be non-Christian. No provision for the education of European girls in separate schools is therefore necessary. The Government are opposed to the imposition of an educational cess and compulsory education, but proposes to aid local Governments and railway companies in expanding the existing school accommodation by an improved system of grants in aid. They consider the existing provision of hill schools suffices for all immediate wants. They desire the opening of schools wherever an average daily attendance of 12 can be secured. Religious neutrality must be strictly observed in the ordinary course of instruction, facilities being afforded for religious instruction at suitable hours. The Government favour the establishment of a system of Government scholarships to be secured by competition. To carry out the principles here laid down, Government have determined to appoint a committee to frame a draft Education Code. The committee will be constituted thus :—president, Mr. A. W. Croft, Director of Public Instruction ; Bengal members, Archdeacon Baly, Father Van Impe, Rector of St. Xavier's College, Calcutta, and Reverend J. Robertson, principal of the Free Church College, Calcutta. The committee are to submit their report and Code before the close of the present cold season, in order that the system may come into force at the commencement of the next financial year.

At present the Government expenditure on education amounts to over two lakhs annually. It is believed that taking into account the Bruce legacy for Calcutta, amounting to eighty thousand pounds, a further Government expenditure of one lakh annually will meet all the eventual requirements, and the committee will bear in mind the wish of the Governments to limit the whole annual expenditure to three lakhs. The propriety of establishing a training college for teachers is considered at present premature. The introduction of an efficient pupil teachers system is considered important. This scheme only affects educational wants in Bengal. Bombay and Madras are considered sufficiently provided for, though this belief is not based on detailed inquiries ; and those Governments are invited to review the question in the light of the resolution regarding the establishment of technical schools and the employment of youths whose education is completed. The Public Works Department are requested to consider the whole question in connection with Government factories and railway workshops ; also the introduction of a regular system of apprenticeship. Local Governments are also invited to report how far the system of competition might be applied to the admission of these youths to Government clerkships. Government do not propose to reserve any certain proportion of these appointments for European youths domiciled in India, but consider that they might be fairly allowed to compete with educated natives on equal terms, if such a system could be adopted without detriment to the public interests.

The resolution concludes by expressing the obligations of Government to Archdeacon Baly for his able and complete reports, his valuable assistance, and the fair and impartial spirit and liberal breadth of view of his proposals.

We are glad to hear that the Honorary Secretaries, Military Relief Fund, have forwarded to Col. Anderson of the 1st Grenadiers Rs. 24,560 for the relief of widows left helpless by the loss of their husbands in the Afghan war.

Mr. R. H. Vincent, the Deputy Commissioner of Police, Bombay, has been appointed by Government to be District Superintendent of Police in the Hyderabad District, vice Major G. B. Simpson, who has been appointed District Superintendent of Police, Kurrachee, vice Mr. G. T. Giertzen, retired. Mr. H. G. Gell, District Superintendent of Police in the Punch Mahals, has been appointed Deputy Commissioner of Police, Bombay. We learn that Mr. Vincent takes up his new appointment about the 15th proximo.

The accounts relating to the trade by land of British India with foreign countries—as Beluchistan, Afghanistan, Kashmir, Ladakh, Thibet, Nepal, Upper Burma, Siam, &c.—for the three months April to June, 1881, show a total of imports of Rs. 92,38,619, and exports Rs. 1,43,71,519, making a grand total of Rs. 2,36,10,138, as compared to Rs. 2,57,78,545 for the same period of 1880, and Rs. 2,05,12,141 in the corresponding months in 1879.

Colonel W. Carey, R. A., Commanding Royal Artillery in the Quetta division, will probably be transferred shortly to Sinde in a similar capacity.

When Colonel W. G. Davies officiates as Financial Commissioner of the Punjab, vice Mr. C. B. Lyall, who has obtained a month's privilege leave, Mr. J. D. Tremlett will act as Commissioner of the Jullunder division, and Colonel Gurdon for Mr. Tremlett, as additional Commissioner.

The Lahore paper says :—It is generally believed at Simla that Mr. J. R. Reid, at present Collector of Bareilly, will be the first Secretary to the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh under Sir Alfred Lyall's régime.

The Bombay Guardian writes :—The days for straining at gnats and swallowing camels have not yet gone by. Our city authorities are greatly exercised at the possibility of any portion—however small—of human remains from the neighbouring Tower of Silence falling into the reservoir at Malabar Hill. The terrible disasters that might possibly follow from this little contamination of the water are painted to the eye of the mind in the most sombre colours ; an almost incredible sum of money is at once voted to cover in the reservoir, and to shut out of the imagination the bare possibility of such dreadful consequences happening. But the same city authorities can bear with remarkable equanimity, not the remote possibility, but the actual present fact, that there are about 5,000 bodies interred annually in shallow, losely covered graves within the town limits and close to the most populous parts of the city. If this does not pollute the water we drink it does, beyond all doubt, pollute the air we breathe. If this polluted air does not produce a specific disease of its own, it does, at least, increase sickness, and causes general ill health, and raises the death-rate of the city. There is a Mahomedan burial-ground at Grant-road, in a very open place as compared with other burial grounds in the town. This one is within the boundaries of the Cammatteepoora division of the city, the death-rate of which is higher than that of any other section in the town. The excessive mortality of Camateepoora is a subject for discussion every year or every quarter, without any successful results being arrived at. The soil in the graveyard at Grant-road is, we believe, unsuitable for the purpose ; its level is below the road level ; it is swamped every monsoons ; there are no sanitary or police regulations for or enforced as to the depth the graves should be dug, or other precautions to be taken to protect the living from the ravages of the dead.

The Lahore paper hears from Kabul that the Governor, Sirdar Ahmed Khan, had been ordered with a force to Kohistan to put down disturbances on the part of the followers of Mir Butcha. The merchants whose property was plundered at Wardoo a fortnight ago are promised some compensation on the Governor's return from Kohistan. Abdul Rasul Khan of Jellalabad has left with a force for Lughman to punish the refractory tribes in that neighbourhood.

A court of inquiry has been held on board the Euryalus, to investigate the circumstances connected with a sad accident that occurred on board that vessel while she was lying at Colombo last August. A shipwright was struck and killed by a piece of hooping detached from an exploded torpedo. The court, after examining several witnesses and trying experiments on shore in torpedo firing, found that no one was to blame owing to the want of exact instructions from the Admiralty as to the firing of torpedoes.

Considering that nine Europeans out of ten cannot drink beer habitually in India without serious risk of an injurious effect on the liver, it is curious that a step has not been taken sooner in some such direction as is pointed to by the following announcement :—"The question of issuing claret in regimental canteens is under the consideration of the authorities."

The Commissariat authorities have issued a "descriptive roll of Government elephants proposed to be sold, in consequence of reduction of establishment," at Mean Meer. It is very honest of the Commissariat Department to have done this, for the elephants might have had a better chance of being sold if less publicity had been given to their characters. Most of them are described by the phrase "fine tusker, temper uncertain ;" but in some cases we get a little more information. One animal, for instance, rejoicing in the name of "Pickles," is a "one tusker," who "killed a man about a year ago," though he has "since been quiet." Probably "Pickles" is thinking that another outbreak is about due now, as he has not slaughtered anybody for a whole year. "Vulcan" has killed several men, dates not given in this case, as he seems to be always at it. "Temper uncertain" is the general character recorded against him, but it appears to be pretty certainly homicidal. "Bhyro Guj" is a tusker who fights, and has the usual recommendation of an uncertain temper. On the whole, considering the general records against the Mean Meer elephants, the fact that their tempers are uncertain seems the one good thing about them. You need not be sure that they will always kill their attendants ; occasionally they may have fits of placidity.

The Englishman states that Major J. W. Benthall, 1st (King's) Dragoon Guards, has applied for leave to England, pending retirement from the service, under, it is believed, the old purchase rules. Colonel Marter has not rejoined his regiment, and it is understood that nothing has been heard of him lately, although his leave expired on the 7th inst. Should Colonel Marter be too ill to come to India, and be compelled to retire, the command of the regiment, on the 9th December next, would fall to Major Gubbings, with Major W. Thompson as junior Lieutenant-Colonel, provided Major Benthall does not think better of his present intention as regards retiring, he being at present senior major of the regiment.

The sanctuary of "Guzur Gab," in which the Luinab Kushdil Khan is said to have taken refuge, is possibly, the Pioneer supposes, the well-known Gazerghiah, three miles from Herat. Here are buried the bodies of the saint Khoja Abdulla Ansari and the Amir Dost Mahomed. The former had come from Bagdad, six centuries ago. He is venerated as the patron saint of Herat. Dost Mahomed, who died just after capturing Herat, desired to be buried at the Khoja's feet ; and many Afghans make pilgrimages to the tombs.

The Rangoon Gazette tells us that a gallant officer of the Burmah Commission serving in the Bassein district has received an intimation, said to be sent to him with the knowledge and consent of the Government of India, that he need expect no further promotion owing to the unsatisfactory nature of his private domestic arrangements. It is hinted that there is to be a general cleansing and whitewashing of the Burmese social fabric in preparation for the visit of His Excellency the Viceroy.

The announcement that Mr. Nordmann, Executive Engineer of one of the Madras divisions, is making a railway survey of the country between Vizagapatam on the Coromandel Coast and Raipur in the Central Provinces, has a greater interest than many people in this part of India would at first sight attach to it. Of all the lines which have been proposed to fill in the magnificent outline drawn by Lord Dalhousie, only one offers a fairer promise of success than the long-dreamt-of railway from the Central Provinces grain country to the coast of Madras. The truth is that, as Lord Dalhousie's scheme was primarily determined by military considerations, we have yet to supply many of the richest portions of India with means of communication with the outer world. In fact, we have done little more than begin to render the vast stores of India's natural wealth accessible to capitalists and other pioneers of industry and commerce. It is a well-established fact that, in the tract of country we have described, vast quantities of wheat and other crops have often been allowed to rot in the ground for no other reason than because the cultivators, owing to want of proper roads, had no means of conveying their produce to places where they would find a market for them. The proposed line is about four hundred miles long and will cost two millions, if constructed on the narrow gauge. Considering, however, the advantages of Vizagapatam as a seaport, and the paying capabilities of the Raipur-Vizagapatam railway, a broad gauge might perhaps be adopted with safety.

The other line to which allusion has been made in the preceding note is already partly finished. We mean the railway from Nagpur eastwards to the grain districts; through Raipur and Sambalpur. The portion to Raipur will shortly be completed, and as it is proposed to connect Raipur with the Madras coast, so there is also a project, now under official consideration, for joining the same locality with some station on the East Indian line, not far from Calcutta. This second line will offer an alternative route to Bombay from Calcutta, to the present one vid Allahabad. Some advocate that the East Indian terminus should be at Barakur, 148 miles from Calcutta. From this the distance to Raipur is 400 miles ; then there are 869 miles to Bombay—total 1,039 miles, as against 1,400 vid Allahabad, which means a saving in time of about eighteen hours. The route might be made still shorter by continuing the Nagpur-Raipur line directly eastwards to Calcutta ; the road from and to Bombay would thus be almost in a straight line. But for the sake of opening up the rich country on and about the upper courses of the Damoda river, it is thought best to divert the Nagpur line north-eastwards as soon as it reaches Sambalpur. A very large capital would be required to construct the two lines. Even if the Vizagapatam line should be built on the metre standard, the Raipur-Barakur railway should certainly be a broad gauge one. It would therefore cost at a rough estimate four millions sterling. Here there is a remunerative field for what India stands so much in need of—private capital and private enterprise. The millions which have been lost in Greek bonds, Egyptians, Spanish, and South American stock would, if employed in India, have enriched the country and rewarded the investors.

A study of the table of shipping operations in Mr. Danvers' report on Indian railways ought, thinks the Pioneer, to open the eyes of those entrusted with the administration of the State railways. The average rate of freight and insurance per ton of railway material shipped to Calcutta vid the Canal was £1 15s. 7*d*. The average cost of carrying material for State railways to the same port, exclusive of insurance, was £2 0s. 9*d*. A similar difference, giving an increased cost for State railways, is to be found in the shipment of material to the ports of Bombay, Madras, and Kurrachee. If the agency for shipping material for the State railway had obtained the same average rate per ton as the East Indian Railway managed to get for the whole year, the amount paid for freight alone to Calcutta—for, except in special cases, Government do not insure—would have been £5,030 instead of £8,804—a net saving of £3,774. If the avarage cost per ton of material brought out for the G. I. P. Railway to Bombay was £1 6s. 9*d*., the average cost per ton of material brought out for the State Railway to the same port, exclusive of insurance, was £1 12s. 6*d*.—excess 5s. 9*d*. per ton ; and as over 50,000 tons of goods were shipped, there was a net loss of something over £11,000. The quantity of material for State railways shipped to Madras being small, the actual loss was not great. But even to that port the State paid 12s. 8*d*. per ton more than the Madras railway. The advantage of keeping up an expensive establishment at home to send out material for the State railways will only be apparent to those who draw salaries for costly work and to shippers. India can hardly be expected to view the present arrangement with satisfaction.

The Ceylon Defence Commission is now complete, and a Colombo paper understands its composition to be as follows :—The Hon. John Douglas, C. M. G. ; Col. Warren, R. E. ; Col. Smart, R. A. ; Flag Captain King ; and Lieutenant Rogers of H. M. S. Euryalus.

The Ceylon Times of October 17 states :—Considerable excitement and alarm has been caused in Galle and, in fact, in Ceylon generally, by the news that a box of dynamite was found at Galle close to the barracks and partially opened. At first people surmised that it was the work of Fenians, and a strict and speedy inquiry was instituted by the Galle authorities. They, however, gave it as their opinion that the case of dynamite had been stolen from some ship in the harbour, and subsequently left where it was found by the thieves when they discovered the nature of their booty. This explanation has failed to satisfy the public, and the whole affair may be said to remain a mystery that has yet to be solved.

The reports of the prevalence of cholera in Java appear to have been greatly exaggerated. The disease appeared in Samarang, Sourabaya, and Batavia, but is asserted not to have assumed an epidimic form, and, after the first outbreaks, to have attained no alarming dimensions, the number of cases gradually but steadily diminishing.

A Straits paper learns from Siam that H. M. the King, in addition to undertaking the establishment of an internal postal service, is also giving his earnest attention to the project of an overland telegraph to Burmah, and that negotiations are on foot for the construction of a telegraph between Saigon and Bangkok ; so that Siam will at no distant day be in telegraphic communication with the rest of the world. His Majesty intends holding a historical and industrial exhibition in Bangkok on the 100th anniversary of the accession of the dynasty he represents.

The Italians are working up a connection with the far East. We lately noticed the passage through India of several Italian gentlemen for Mandalay, and a Shanghai paper just received reports that two Italian gentlemen have arrived there under engagement to I. M.'s Customs. "The gentlemen in question have studied Chinese in a Chinese school which has been established at Naples, and we believe they are proficient scholars in the language."

We take the following from the Japan Weekly Mail :—The United States Government have taken rather a strong line with reference to the conflict of jurisdiction which arose between their Consular authorities here and our own in connection with the Ross case. It will be remembered that, as we informed our readers at the time, the matter was made the subject of a diplomatic correspondence between the Foreign Offices of London and Washington, and it was hoped that an arrangement might be come to with regard to future cases of like nature which should obviate the recurrence of similar troubles. It is therefore with some surprise that we learn that the American Secretary of State, without awaiting the close of the question between the two Governments and the satisfactory solution which might fairly have been expected, has already issued instructions to the Consular officers of the United States, in places where such events can occur, of a nature to perpetuate the conflict, since they take no account whatever of the English view of the position. Notice to this effect has been officially given to the English Government, but it is not yet known what steps the latter are likely to take. This action of the Department of State at Washington seems as uncalled for as it certainly is high-handed.

A China paper's Ningpo correspondent, writing under date of Sept. 28, gives the following particulars in connection with acts of piracy lately committed in the neighbourhood of Ningpo :—"There has been another skirmish between the gunboats and the pirates near to Chusan, which has ended in the defeat of the Imperialists, with the loss of three men, including the captain. Probably this small fighting will go on until the native mandarins will be unequal to the work of a small war—when either foreigners or some foreign-drilled troops will have to be sent to stamp it out, as had to be done near the same place some few years ago."

A Shanghai paper, the Celestial Empire, of the 30th September states :—We understand that the C. M. S. N. Co.'s steamer Meido, which left for England on Wednesday, carried a number of Chinese merchants who intend to establish firms in London in order to trade direct with China.

Vanity Fair is very indignant when it thinks of that "smug-faced Driveller," Mr. Gladstone :—"The Irish Muddle is only in keeping with the other performances of this enlightened Administration. Whichever way we look, Mr. Gladstone has covered us with dishonour. He has flourished his favourite white feather both in Africa and Asia ; and in Europe England has never been held in such contempt since the days of Charles the Second. We are without allies. Mr. Gladstone's insolence has alienated both Austria and Germany ; his imbecility has disgusted even Gambetta, and, for aught we know to the contrary, we may be drifting into a war with France. And yet we shall to-day have this smug-faced Driveller assuring us at Leeds, with a complacent smile illuminating his venerable countenance, that the mists conjured up by Tory misrule are rapidly melting before the sun of Radical sagacity, and that the affairs of the country are being carried on in the best of all possible ways by the best of all possible Cabinets." There is no want of vigour in this political leader, it must be allowed.

TUITION FEES TO EDUCATIONAL OFFICERS.

The last issue of the Bombay Educational Record contained the subjoined Government Orders, which were issued on the 3rd instant by the Director of Public Instruction, for the information of Educational officers :—

Extract para. 8 of Government Resolution, Educational Department, No. 1423, dated 27th September, 1881.

8. The Governor in Council has now enquired of the Government of India whether the case of Government Professors and School-masters receiving fees for tuition to one or more private pupils is held to come within the scope of the orders above referred to, and the following answer has been received from the Government of India :—

"Sir,—In reply to your letter No. 1013, dated the 8th ultimo, I am directed to say that the rule laid down by her Majesty's Secretary of State in regard to the receipt of fees by officers in the public service should, in the opinion of the Governor-General in Council, be held to apply to the case of Government Professors and School-masters giving tuition to private pupils. Such fees should, therefore, not be allowed except with the special previous sanction of the Government of India."

No. 87, dated 14th October, 1868.

From the Secretary of State for to India the Government of India.

"I have received your Excellency's Despatch, dated 27th July (No. 108), 1868, in continuation of previous correspondence, on the subject of officers in the service receiving fees and commissions with the approval of the Bombay Government.

"2. No officer in the public service should be allowed to receive fees except under the special previous sanction of your Excellency's Government, and an enforcement of this rule will, I trust, prevent the recurrence of such cases as those of Colonel . . . and Captain . . . . It was very desirable that the views of the Supreme Government may be made known as a guide to local Administrations in dealing with claims of this nature in future.

"3. I fully concur in the view that has been taken by your Government of the three particular cases that have come under their notice, and am of opinion that the practice of allowing officers to receive fees and commissions, except under very exceptional circumstances, would be detrimental to the public service."

MR. O'DONNELL'S CASE.

The Hindoo Patriot has adopted the unusual course of publishing a departmental paper of a personal character which has not appeared in the official Gazette. We refer to the Lieutenant-Governor's Minute in Mr. O'Donnell's case, which our contemporary gives in full in his issue of Monday, and which, as there is no longer any object in withholding it, we reprint in another column.

As the Minute does not enter into the defence submitted by Mr. O'Donnell, it cannot be said to place the public in a position to judge how far he merits the severe censure passed on him. As regards the Municipal embroglio referred to, Mr. O'Donnell, as far as we can learn, was imprudent enough to espouse, as Vice-Chairman, the cause of the ratepayers, and oppose what he considered to be illegal action on the part of the Chairman, who was also the Magistrate. From an official point of view he was probably in error in thus setting himself in opposition to his immediate superior, but it does not follow that his view of Municipal matters was not right, and so far the public will naturally be inclined to sympathise with him.

Of the charges connected with Mr. O'Donnell's judicial work, at least that portion of them which concerns his dismissal of an undue proportion of cases with his recourse to the summary procedure where the regular procedure was required by law, all we need at present say is that we believe there are two sides to the question, the Magistrate's figures and facts differing so widely from Mr. O'Donnell's that, if the former are correct, far more severe measures would be called for, while if the lattter are to be taken as the right data, there was nothing in Mr. O'Donnell's disposal of the cases to call for unfavourable remark.

There are several other matters mentioned in the minute. In respect of one of them Mr. O'Donnell was no doubt in fault. As regards the others we have at present no means of forming an opinion. But the most serious charges are those connected with judicial work, referred to above, and when we have facts and figures before us which are admitted by both sides to be correct, we may be able to form an opinion of their significance.

We believe, however, that Mr. O'Donnell's degradation is not likely to be of long duration.—English-man.

The Pioneer says :—It will be impossible for the best friends of the Bengal Government, who will have been expecting to find in Mr. Horace Cockerell's letter a satisfactory vindication of the severe penalty imposed on Mr. O'Donnell, to be otherwise than surprised and disappointed at its actual contents. There is nothing to lay hold of in the letter; it gives us no facts, it is merely a long scolding administered to the culprit ; and the only explanation of his degradation which it furnishes is that, on the whole, the Lieutenant-Governor thinks he deserves it. The bits of unfavourable reports against Mr. O'Donnell which are quoted in the letter are each as vague. No one coming to this case as an entire stranger to its merits, and asked, after reading the Minute, what Mr. O'Donnell had done, would be able to say. The Lieutenant-Governor says —for the letter signed by Mr. Cockerell may still be taken, we suppose, as emanating from the Lieutenant-Governor considering the importance of the decision it embodies—that "Mr. O'Donnell takes up his own and the public time by maintaining absurd theories regarding his duties and his position ;" but we are not told what these absurd theories are. So all through the whole letter, when it is closely examined. Mr. O'Donell is denounced, it is true, in the most savage terms as a person worthy of condign punishment : if he had murdered his grandmother and robbed a church, he could not have been abused more roundly ; but there is no definite act of culpability even laid to his door. Unfortunately, the part which relates to the Jessore Municipal affair is not the only part of Sir Ashley Eden's letter which creates uncomfortable apprehensions. The central portion relates to a series of complaints directed against Mr. O'Donnell by his immediate superior, Mr. Barton. These are dealt with in the Minute in a sketchy way ; but the strange part of the matter is that there is no reference whatever to any reply given by Mr. O'Donnell. Now it is obvious that, if Mr. Barton made a string of charges against a person so active with his tongue and pen as Mr. O'Donnell, there must certainly have been a reply, and it is rarely prudent in a quarrel—even where one party is a superior, officially, and another an inferior—to make up one's mind finally about the rights of the case without hearing both sides of the story. Now, we have very good reason to believe that the charges brought by Mr. Barton as regards Mr. O'Donnell's general behaviour in Jessore are really little better than a tissue of inaccuracies and misconceptions. But Sir Ashley Eden treats them in the present Minute as if they were all so much gospel. We can quite imagine that a gentleman who lately went home to stand by of Galway as a Home Ruler, and who would most likely have been an Obstructive in the House, may be a cantankerous person as an officer of the Indian Government. If he is so, one can quite understand how he might get into hot water with the present Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal : two of a trade can never agree. Nemo in republica justice in all things. The present transaction begins to wear the appearance of a very scandalous piece of injustice, and the letter now published,—and this itself has made its appearance in a very accidental way instead of being honestly put forward in the Gazette at the time Mr. O'Donnell's degradation was ordered,—will be wholly insufficient to meet the peculiar emergencies of the case. The Government of India may have considerable difficulty in taking it up ; but Lord Ripon is hardly the man to tolerate a serious wrong merely because it has been perpetrated by a "strong" Lieutenant-Governor. Is it true that Mr. O'Donnell has been officially punished without ever having been told that the local Government was thinking of imposing penalties upon him, without knowing why this was done, and without having had an opportunity of representing his view of the case ? We believe this is true, and the fact is much more disgraceful to the strong Lieutenant-Governor than to Mr. O'Donnell, is the one single fact which Sir Ashley Eden's letter establishes,—namely, that Sir Ashley Eden does not like him. Our strong Lieutenant-Governor puts one in mind of "Pickles," the Government elephant offered for sale with others at Mean Meer, according to an amusing advertisement we noticed yesterday, and described as a fine tusker, but with "an uncertain temper." "Pickles," in spite of his strength and good tusks, appears to have been "reduced" out of the Government service for incurable delinquency as regards his morals. Absit omen.

CONCERT AT NEEMUCH.

(FROM A CORRESPONDENT.)

NEEMUCH, OCT. 27.

The residents of Neemuch were afforded a musical treat of no small merit on the 26th instant, when a concert took place, at the Auchterlony Hall. To those of your readers not acquainted with this charming station, I may say that this hall is a large building, usually devoted to the use of the badminton players, and its fine lofty main room is admirably suited to a performance of the kind, and conduced greatly to its success—for a success it undoubtedly was, to judge from the hearty applause and repeated encores, which extended even to the National Anthem !

The original object of the concert was to raise funds to purchase a new harmonium for the church, but later on it was decided to devote the proceeds to the Library, where some new books are much needed. Several visitors came in to the station from a distance to be present, and, no doubt, many more would have come had they been aware of it. Some of the men of the Artillery and 17th Regiment attended and seemed to appreciate the efforts made to amuse them.

I append the programme, and without being too critical, will venture to add a few remarks on its execution.

1. Quartette "The Cruiskkeen Lawn" ..... Benedict.
Mrs. Quentin, Mrs. Dalrymple, Mrs. Campbell, Mr. Emerson, Mr. Sandwith, Mr. Gael.
2. Solo ..... "Within a Mile of Edinboro' Town." Mrs. Campbell.

PART II.

1. Solo ..... "Nancy Lee" ..... S. Adams.
Mrs. Dalrymple.
2. Duett..... "Sainted mother" ..... V. Wallace.
Mrs. Quentin and Mr. Emerson.
3. Solo ..... "The Stirrup Cup" ..... Ardite.

4. Duett ..... "He thinks as others oft have thought" ..... V. Wallace.
Mrs. Quentin and Mr. Gael.
5. Trio ..... "Through the world" ..... Balfe.
Mrs. Quentin, Mr. Emerson, Mr. Gael.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN.

The palm must certainly be awarded to Mrs. Quentin, who has a very fine soprano voice, sings with much expression, and has the great merit of rendering her words distinctly. In response to an encore she sang "Thady O'Flynn," which was very well received. In the duett from "Maritana," which was generally considered the "gem" of the evening, her voice showed to great advantage, and blended well with Mr. Emerson's ; and the style in which they sang the quick passages was admirable. Mrs. Campbell, though indisposed, very kindly sang "Within a mile of Edinboro' Town." She has a sweet, sympathetic voice, though it is scarcely strong enough to fill so large a room. "Nancy Lee," by Mrs. Dalrymple, who has a powerful contralto voice, was enthusiastically encored ; when she gave "To and fro," by Gounod. "The Stirrup Cup," sung by Mr. Sandwith, was far from being "con spirito ;" and the accompaniment was a trifle uncertain, and lacked decision and crispness. "The British Lion" also proved rather a tame animal on this occasion, though we were repeatedly warned, in a mild tone, not to rouse him. The duet "He thinks as others oft have thought" was very carefully sung by Mrs. Quentin and Mr. Gael, who has a cultivated voice and sings with taste ; indeed, all the concerted music appeared to have been well practised, and the result was very creditable. The thanks of all concerned were due to the lady who presided at the pianoforte, who had an arduous task and proved herself the thorough musician she is. I think I may say all left with the satisfaction of having spent two rupees well, and will not soon forget their pleasant insight into the musical coterie of Neemuch.

BOMBAY.

TO-DAY.

Arrival of Mr. Grant-Duff by mail-steamer.

VESSELS ARRIVED.—The following vessels arrived on the 28th :—John David (s), from Cardiff ; Lord McDuff. Mauritius. 29th :—Pallion (s), Cardiff ; Rossmore (s), Liverpool ; Camco (s), Cardiff ; Lady Dalhousie (s), Liverpool

had referred to the modern representatives of the prophets,—the priests, the scientists, and the poets,—and had touched briefly on their several defects. But it must be admitted that there were Western poets and philosophers who, in exceptional moments of inspiration, had glimpses of truth. Such were Dante, Goethe, Spinoza, Kant, Fichte, Comte, and Shelley. But, unfortunately, they were seldom, confusions in their thoughts, the blight of a godless, soulless materialism having fallen heavily on their spirits. The real beings on whom the mantle of the ancient prophets had fallen were the land of mystic brothers who dwelt in and beyond the Himalayas. Koothoomi Lal Singh and his brothers possessed wonderful powers, and the lecturer was one of the few to whom they had been pleased to show those powers. They beheld with grief the materialistic and atheistical tendencies of the age; and their object was to cement the bonds of brotherhood and to restore the Asiatics to their neglected belief in their ancient teachers. They were pursued with calumny and derision because they did not come forward and manifest themselves to the world; but they had very good reasons for remaining in darkness. He (the lecturer) had corresponded with one of the brothers, and said that letters dropped at times in the most inexplicable way at his feet, embodying answers to thoughts to which he had given no utterance. For himself, he had passed from incredulity to belief, from belief to knowledge; and if he served them faithfully and well, he was sure he would never be forsaken by the great Himalayan brothers. (Applause.)

After a vote of thanks to the lecturer, and another to the chairman, the meeting terminated.

BENGAL.

A COMING MEDIUM.—There has been a great awakening and stirring up of dry bones in spiritualist circles in Calcutta lately—induced, it may be, by Madame Blavatsky's Theosophist crusade; it may be by the fitness of things. Our spiritualists, Europeans and natives, are devout and earnest enough; but they find great lack of material to go upon. Wherefore a gentleman, belonging to one of the large mercantile firms in the city, and an ardent spiritualist, has generously come forward to meet the difficulty, and is importing from Europe, at his own expense, a duly qualified medium. Some six weeks hence this missionary in partibus infidelium may be expected. And then we shall see what we shall see. For the ministrations of the medium are not to be confined to esoterics. He will give public seances after the manner of London and New York. And then there will be envy and gnashing of teeth in Bombay; and rattling of theosophic tea-cups and saucers lost on the Simla hills; and here we shall perhaps find out when the Chauringhee tramway is going to be finished.—Englishman.

MADRAS.

FOSTERING SNAKES.—A Trichinopoly correspondent writes to us:—"A large snake, seven feet long, was killed here this week by Master John Glen, son of Mr. Glen, South India Railway. It was quietly wandering about the cantonment. Large temples are literally breeding grounds for cobras and other reptiles. At one of these temples, there are some scores of snakes, which are fed nightly with eggs and milk. In the morning, tom-toms are beaten before the doors are opened when the snakes retire to their holes.—Mail.

THE MADRAS QUARTER-MASTER GENERAL.—We understand that Brigadier-General H. H. O'Connel, the Quater-Master General, whose tenure of appointment expires in the early part of next month, has been permitted to remain in office till the end of the year, it being considered necessary that an officer like him, possessing a thorough knowledge of the country, its means of communications, &c., should be attached, at least for some time, to the staff of our coming Commander-in-Chief, who is a stranger to the Presidency.—Times.

THE MADRAS POLICE DEPARTMENT.—Colonel C. S. Hearn, Inspector-General of Police, who has obtained two months' leave of absence to Europe, will, we hear, retire from the service at the end of the year. Colonel W. O. Swanston, Acting Commissioner of Police, will, it is understood, also retire at an early date, and be succeeded by Colonel Hicks, who is at present doing duty in Vizagapatam. Colonel Drever, the permanent incumbent of the latter office, who is now on furlough in England, it is unlerstood, is a candidate for the Inspector-Generalship of Police, about to become vacant by the retirement of Colonel Hearn, his claims being strengthened by the circumstance of his having acted three times in that capacity.—Times.

POSTAL DISARRANGEMENTS.—A Trichinopoly correspondent writes:—"How is that although your paper is addressed plainly Trichinopoly, that it goes to Salem, Tuticorin, &c., all round the compass. I once received a copy of Madras papers, several months old, which had been bottled up at Tinnevelly. On another occasion, a registered letter from London lay at Tuticorin for over a month. Again I had a letter with seventeen postmarks on it. Upon mentioning this to a Post Master, his reply was, like Single-speech-Hamilton's, to the point: 'It was God's will, no doubt.' This shuffling of responsibility on to anybody but the person to be blamed, is very general amongst 'B'eyas' and 'B Ls' and the literati who now fill every official hole and corner."—Mail.

INSTALLATION OF THE NEW ARCHDEACON.—The ceremony of inducting the Rev. G. Warlow, B. A., into the Archdeaconate of Madras, took place at St. George's Cathedral on the 26th inst. Punctually at 6 P. M. the service commenced with a procession of the choir and clergy, from the west end of the building. Mr. F. Rowlandson, as Registrar of the Diocese, and the Bishop, bringing up the rear. The choir numbered thirty-four, and the clergy about seventeen. The service proper was intoned by the Rev. A. A. Williams (Joint Chaplain of the Cathedral), followed by the lessons read by the Revs. A. C. Taylor and E. Sell. Immediately after the 2nd lesson, while a soft voluntary was being played on the organ, the choir and clergy marched back to the west end of the Cathedral, and returned to the chancel escorting the Archdeacon Designate. On arriving at their stalls in the chancel the choristers formed two lines, with the clergy between them, the Registrar standing upon the chancel steps, and the Rev. G. Warlow near the Archdeacon's stall. Mr. Rowlandson then proceeded to read the Mandatorus, appointing the Rev. George Warlow to take upon himself the office of Archdeacon of Madras, and entitling him to occupy the Archdeacon's stall in St. George's Cathedral. Mr. Morley then handed him to his stall, the clergy marching back to their seats, and the choir filing off right and left into theirs. The service was then resumed, with the Nunc Dimittis. After the prayers, the Bishop delivered a short address, from the episcopal throne, upon the duties and office of an Archdeacon.—Mail.

GRAND CEREMONY AT VIZIANAGRAM.

VIZIANAGRAM, Oct. 21.

YESTERDAY at 5-30 P. M., all the Europeans in the station, to the number of some twenty persons, among whom the fair sex was well represented, assembled at the Rajah's palace, to which they had been invited to witness the ceremony of His Highness's installation. Among those present were the officers of the 17th Native Infantry, in full war paint, and by them and the Civilians a procession inside the palace was formed, led by Colonel Grant and Mrs. H. G. Turner, the others following in order the place of honour being taken by Mr. H. G. Turner, the Collector, and the Rajah. The procession filed through the crowd, up to the northern rampart of the Fort, on which a spacious shamiana had been erected in the large open square in front of the palace. Forming the shamiana on the northern side were drawn up in line twelve magnificent elephants, four of these being huge tuskers of majestic proportions, rendered still more so by their gorgeous housings and trappings of cloth of gold. The solid silver or gilt howdahs which they carried gave an idea of the wealth possessed by their owner's noble family, and at the same time happily contributed to the scene of Oriental splendour. In front of the elephants was drawn up a squadron of splendidly mounted sowars, wearing bright-turbands, scarlet coats, white breeches, and jack boots. Beyond these again were 150 rank and file of the Rajah's sepoys, who presented a sufficiently smart appearance. At a little distance in front of the latter stood, as a guard of honour, 100 of the 17th Madras Native Infantry, with their regimental colours before them, and their regimental band in attendance. On their right flank were two rows of superb horses belonging to the Rajah, all decorated with gold-embroidered cloths and bridles. On arrival under the shamiana, the guests took seats in a semi-circle, the centre being occupied by Mr. Turner and the Rajah. After the band had played the usual flourish, Mr. Turner rose, and delivered the Government Order and the Viceroy's letter, forwarding the sunnud or khareeta, with a few appropriate words, presented to the Rajah the latter document, and declared him to be "Maharajah." The Maharajah then read a speech, expressing his thanks for the honour conferred on him. The guard unfurled the colours, and presented arms; the band struck up; the Maharajah's sepoys fired a feu de joie; and a salute of twenty-five guns boomed forth from the ramparts; while all the party crowded round His Highness to offer him their hearty congratulations. Time fails to tell of the splendour of the dresses worn by some of the native gentlemen present; to describe the Maharajah's toqui and plume worth a king's ransom; or to do justice to the toilettes of some of the English ladies. The Maharajah's Private Secretary, attired in full English Court costume, formed a striking and appropriate figure; while the gold and scarlet uniforms of the officers were well set off by the sombre frock-coats of their Civilian brethren. When the ceremony was concluded, and light refreshment had been handed round, the troops marched off, the guests took their leave, and night dropped its curtain gradually over the gay scene.—Correspondent, Madras Mail.

MEDICAL.—We are informed that Surgeon Major Massy will succeed Surgeon Major Henderson as Civil Surgeon and in charge of the jail at Rawulpindi, on the latter officer proceeding to take up his new appointment as Civil Surgeon of Dalhousie.—Civil and Military Gazette.

THE SANORE CHOLERA CAMP.—There are still some men of the Lahore Regiment in cholera camp, who were coming into cantonments, but were detained on the news of the recent severe outbreak of cholera in Dr. Lawrie's compound. They will now not return before the beginning of next month.—Civil and Military Gazette.

REPORTED LOODIANA AT UMBALLA.—We are heartily glad to be able to publish a letter from the officer commanding the 9th Lancers at Umballa, contradicting the report of an outbreak of Loodiana disease among the horses of that regiment. We regret that our correspondent should not have been more careful to verify a report of this kind before sending it to us.

THE FATAL FEVER AT AMRITSAR.—We learn from Amritsar that choleraic fever is still raging there very badly, about 150 deaths occurring daily. The epidemic greatly interfered with the annual Dewali fair, which is visited by pilgrims from many parts of the Punjab, and especially the neighbouring stations. The number of visitors was scarcely half as large as usual. The horse show which was held on the 18th and the following days was far from being a success. The horses brought to the fair were inferior in both number and quality to those of the previous shows. The majority of shops are still closed and trade is at a stand-still.—Civil and Military Gazette.
